PFH Board Meets at Pennsbury Manor

On December 6, the PHF Board of Directors held their quarterly meeting at Pennsbury Manor, the reconstructed estate of Pennsylvania founder William Penn, along the Delaware River. Board members and staff from PHF and PHMC enjoyed a tour of the property led by site administrator Douglas A. Miller.

PHF board members generously give their time and resources to support PHF and PHMC programs, and we appreciate their vital contributions.

The Giving Circle

Become a member of our Giving Circle

Members are those who support PHF at the highest level by donating $1,000 or more on an annual basis. PHF helps PHMC protect and provide access to PHMC's 24 historic sites and museums, 5 million objects and 237 million archival items. This key contribution is integral in helping us educate and enrich the lives of Pennsylvanians in the present and future.

Giving Circle members get first priority for PHF updates and events and receive special recognition annually in our printed materials and at various events. Members provide leadership and inspiration to all of those who consider supporting the work at PHF. Please join today.

Contact PHF at 717-787-2407 or RA-paheritage@pa.gov.

PHF Welcomes Three New Board Members

PHF proudly announces that Jenna Earley, David Schankweiler and Alison T. Young recently joined the Pennsylvania Heritage Foundation's Board of Directors.

Jenna Earley, a native of Harrisburg, Dauphin County, is director of marketing for the American Council of Engineering Companies of Pennsylvania, a trade organization devoted to the promotion and enhancement of the business interests of the consulting engineering industry in the commonwealth. She is the primary communication liaison between the association and 130 member firms throughout Pennsylvania. Earley was previously director of public policy for the United Way of Pennsylvania. She holds a bachelor's degree in history from Millersville University and a Master of Public Administration from Shippensburg University. She resides in Cumberland County with her husband Brad, son Ty and Australian shepherd Blue.

David Schankweiler

David Schankweiler is the founder and former CEO and owner of Journal Multimedia, a print, web and video publisher and research and events group. After 32 years of growing the company, Schankweiler sold the business to New Media Inc. in 2016. He sits on several for-profit company boards, has had leadership roles in several national industry associations, and has served his hometown in numerous nonprofit volunteer leadership positions. His proudest community achievement was serving 10 years as the founding board chair for the Harrisburg University of Science and Technology; the school now boasts enrollment of 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Schankweiler lives in Mechanicsburg, Cumberland County, with his wife Donna; they have three children, Kate, Parker and Drew.

Alison T. Young serves as managing director of leadership and civic engagement at Drexel University's LeBow College of Business and executive director of the Institute for Strategic Leadership. As a nationally recognized expert on civic engagement and public service leadership, Young also serves as an on-air political analyst for CBS News. She was recently selected as one of 10 U.S. leaders for an Eisenhower Fellowship to travel to China to study the underrepresentation of women in public sector leadership positions in G20 countries. Previously, Young served as vice president of external affairs at the National Constitution Center in Philadelphia. Prior to that, she was a senior White House official, serving as special assistant to President George W. Bush and acting director of the White House Office of USA Freedom Corps (USAFC). Young earned a bachelor's degree from Grove City College and a master's degree from the George Washington University. She currently resides in Philadelphia with her husband, daughter and rescue dog Reagan.

Historical Marker Scavenger Hunt at Pennsylvania Farm Show

Scavenger hunt at the 2017 Farm Show

PHF and the State Historic Preservation Office proudly cosponsored PHMC's 2017 Historical Marker Scavenger Hunt at this year's Pennsylvania Farm Show.

The scavenger hunt uses historical markers relating to agriculture found throughout the commonwealth as a fun and challenging educational tool to introduce children and their families to the diversity of Pennsylvania's rural heritage. Replicas of actual PHMC historical markers are located throughout the Farm Show Complex. With a booklet and map participants locate markers and answer questions to receive a prize.

Approximately 250 people completed the hunt, and the winners received a one-year family membership to PHF. The scavenger hunt promotes the Pennsylvania Historical Marker program.
