PHF Welcomes New Board President

Glenn N. Holliman of Newport, Perry County, was recently named president of the Pennsylvania Heritage Foundation Board of Directors. He has been serving on the board since 2012.

Holliman is a retired vice president of the Episcopal Church Foundation and founder and president of Holliman Associates, a national capital campaign firm. He is the author of two books, With Generous Hearts and Introduction to Planned Giving, and several articles. A veteran of the Vietnam War, he holds an M.A. in American history from the University of Tennessee. He also is a board member of the Historical Society of Perry County and serves as chair of the Perry County Bicentennial Committee. With his wife Barbara, Holliman travels extensively in the United Kingdom and Europe, exploring his ancestral roots. His Pennsylvania roots go back to Daniel Boone, a sixth great-uncle.

A Letter from the New PHF President

It is an honor to serve as president of the Pennsylvania Heritage Foundation and to follow in the footsteps of our previous president, Ann Moran of Lewisburg, Union County. Under Ann's leadership, PHF made important strides to significantly support the work of the Pennsylvania Historical & Museum Commission. On Ann's watch, the board engaged our dynamic executive director and chief development officer, Heather Hu. Heather and her excellent staff are responsible for private support raised for several initiatives, including the Pennsylvania Turnpike exhibit and the Mammal Hall restoration project at The State Museum of Pennsylvania. In addition, they manage extensive membership and grants programs and engage the community through a variety of special events.

There is much to be done to position PHF to more fully assist in informing the public, especially the young, of the great history of Pennsylvania. PHMC's State Museum, State Archives, State Historic Preservation Office, and historic sites and museums throughout the commonwealth are worthy of not only public finance but also our philanthropy. We welcome your membership and support in our shared mission.

Best Wishes,
Glenn N. Holliman

Nancy Moses Presentation and Book Signing

On May 17, author and PHMC chair Nancy Moses gave a presentation at The State Museum of Pennsylvania. In her talk, Moses discussed stories from her most recent book, Stolen, Smuggled, Sold: On the Hunt for Cultural Treasures, about the theft of artworks, historic documents and other cultural artifacts and how they were eventually recovered and returned to their owners. Moses signed copies of her book at a reception following the presentation.

The event was open to the public and sponsored by the Pennsylvania Heritage Foundation and The State Museum of Pennsylvania.
